Foreword

The years pass quickly and cannot be recalled. With this fact in mind we have tried to capture and put in print some of the most important events and achievements of this year. Like hundreds before us, we have been looking forward to the day we are to receive our diplomas. But it is with a sense of pride that we present this work hoping that each member of Landis High School may live on in the memories of each of us through the pages of the 1940 YELLOW JACKET.

Dedication

TO OUR PARENTS

To us you are symbolic of everything that is good and noble in life. For us you have sacrificed time, fortune, and pleasure. In us you have placed great confidence; you have entrusted us with the high responsibility of carrying on the work you have started. Your high ideals, your understanding, your sympathy have been our guides through these years. It is with deepest affection and appreciation that we dedicate the 1940 YELLOW JACKET to our parents.

THANKS TO OUR BOARD MEMBERS

In due consideration to the Board Members, who have been a great asset to our school, we give our most whole hearted thanks. These men have given us the help and cooperation which it takes to have a successful school.

Principal's Message

The greatest responsibility that comes to any man or woman is that of helping to mold character. That is the responsibility of the Landis faculty to the students and to the citizens of this community. Realizing this, we have tried to give to you the best that is in us in order that you might be able to know more, do more, and be more.

Wherever you go, whatever you do, remember that your character is your greatest asset. As Browning said, "All service ranks the same with God." You may dig ditches, or you may become the nation's greatest scientist; but the question that really counts is the one "What kind of a man are you?" It is my hope that each student who leaves this school may always have a character that is above every reproach.

Class Poem

Our high school days will soon be o'er,
Sweet memories of the past,
And of these happy care-free days
Memories alone shall last.

Memories that can never fade
For no matter where we roam,
We'll think of the dear old school
We attended while at home.

To our dear teachers, friends, and school
We will always stand true;
But now as parting draws near,
We must bid you all Adieu.

Classmates, let us work with all our might,
Determined success to win;
For determination is the thing
With which success begins.

Now classmates it is time to part
So let us not be sad;
Just think of dear old Landis High
And for her namesake be glad.

Class Poet—VELMA BEAVER.

Senior Diary

1936-1937

SEPTEMBER

Sixty-four green freshmen assembled under one roof. The sight of us should have discouraged our class advisers, Miss Verna Mae Hahn and Mr. C. G. Farmer; but instead they took us under their wings and settled us to work.

OCTOBER

Initiation ended and we found ourselves an accepted part of the high school. Many of us had become members of various clubs and were really enjoying high school life.

NOVEMBER

We needed some class leader so we chose our officers. We selected Hattie Wright for president, Rachel Linn for vice-president, Norman Shue for secretary, and Elvie McCreary for treasurer.

DECEMBER

This month was a mixture of joys and sorrows. We had our first high school exams and many of us were "in red." The Christmas holidays didn't come before we needed them. Santa Claus was pretty good to us considering that we had to show our report card first.

JANUARY

We were only half green now. Hattie and Wayne had been making a name for themselves on the basketball court.

FEBRUARY

By now we were becoming famous. We made headlines by taking the class trophy in athletics. This was the first time anyone gave us credit for much ability.

MARCH

"Beware the Ides of March" we were told. Yes, school was almost out and many of us were hanging on the fence. We really did do some last minute cramming.

APRIL

Vacation came, and we separated from our classmates for the summer. Perhaps we had not accomplished a great deal, but at least we have worn off the green.

1937-1938

SEPTEMBER

Fifty-seven of us answered the ringing of the school bell. And what fun we had pointing a mocking finger at the host of "green freshmen." Mrs. John Fox and Mr. C. G. Farmer were our advisers.

OCTOBER

Our sophomore officers were: Harold Sechler, president; Lee Brown Sloope, vice-president; and Margaret Jane Alexander, secretary-treasurer. We were quite interested in our first school fair.

NOVEMBER

The old turkey had a hard time. We "married off" another English teacher. Maybe we should have charged for the privilege of teaching us English.

DECEMBER

Christmas time again and our interest in social activities began to grow. Why shouldn't we celebrate? Another set of exams had been finished and we could wait another four months to "catch up" on our studying.

JANUARY

Our class seemed to be athletic-minded. The basketball team boasted the names of several of our boys and girls.

FEBRUARY

Our girls basketball team came out as county champions again this year. Various members of our class served as sponsors for the basketball tournament. This had come to be a happy occasion for all of us.

MARCH

We were really making a record for ourselves. Again we captured the cup for intermural athletics.

APRIL

"April showers bring forth May flowers." So said someone. We were ready to look forward to being jolly juniors now. With this in mind we planned to sponsor some shows during the summer in order that we might begin a much needed bank account.

Senior Diary

1938-1939

SEPTEMBER

Fifty-one jolly juniors returned to begin what turned out to be a year of much dispute and many arguments. Our officers were Lee Brown Sloope, president; Wayne Fleming, vice-president; Joe Roberts, secretary; and Herman Weaver, treasurer.

OCTOBER

We began seeking ways and means for financing our big event of the year, the junior-senior banquet. We found that this was easier said than done.

NOVEMBER

Now we had established a real reputation for ourselves. Our third high school English teacher embarked upon the sea of matrimony.

DECEMBER

Basketball practice was well under way and our star athletes were making a name for themselves on our teams. Our class meetings were becoming famous for their long and heated arguments. The only thing we agreed on was that we didn't agree with anybody.

JANUARY

Our bank account was growing slowly. We now had a real subject for debate; namely, where should the junior-senior banquet be held? We shed tears, made enemies, and lost friends over this.

FEBRUARY

Finally, the hotel-minded group won, and we went to Salisbury (by boat) to a very delightful junior-senior banquet. This was the first time we had a real dance following the banquet. To say we had fun is expressing it mildly. Mrs. Doron breathed a sigh of relief.

MARCH

For our first dramatic efforts we selected "Full of Youth." We didn't have any Clark Gables, but at least we lived up to the title.

APRIL

Our grade parents honored us with a junior-senior prom. Commencement time rolled around again. We found ourselves gathering flowers for the daisy chains. Those hard-hearted seniors refused to weep. We hated to see them go but we were glad to look forward to taking their places next year.

1939-1940

SEPTEMBER

In all our senior dignity we returned to prove that we were capable of filling our places as leaders of the student body. Norman Shue was our very capable president; Margaret Sloope, vice-president; Okla Butts, secretary; and Harold Sechler, treasurer.

OCTOBER

Hattie Wright and Wayne Fleming became very "business-minded" as they operated the store. We became magazine salesmen in order to increase our bank account. We are still waiting for that ice-cream supper which we were promised.

NOVEMBER

The members of the annual staff were announced. Some of them went to Washington and Lee University for the S.I.P.A. convention, and to our delight brought back the cup, first place award for our annual.

DECEMBER

We rushed the season and gave our senior play "Spring Fever." Oh, well, according to our teachers we had a chronic case of that. Our rings finally came, and we felt ourselves a very select group now. They really were pretty.

JANUARY

Snow and more snow! We didn't know we did like school so well until we had to take two snow vacations. Believe it or not, we had our Easter holidays in January.

FEBRUARY

The juniors entertained us royally with a banquet followed by a dance at Hotel Concord. 'Twas an occasion to be remembered by all of us.

MARCH

We needed some extra days in this month. Basketball tournament, last minute work on the annual, final book reports kept us so busy that we almost forgot that we had classes to attend.

APRIL

Those long awaited caps and gowns finally came out of hiding. We were really going to receive our "sheepskins." As we could not leave without leaving our best wishes to the underclassmen and faculty members for all the things they have done to make our high school days happy.

Senior Class Prophecy

One evening I came into the sitting room from a good supper and seated myself comfortably before the fire. While sitting there, watching the crackling flames dance merrily in the fireplace, I fell asleep and began dreaming a most strange dream. Imagine my surprise and pleasure to find myself in the year 1950, learning the whereabouts and occupations of my former classmates and fellow seniors of 1940.

Margaret Jane Alexander seems to have been very successful, for she is now the happy wife of a handsome young man.

And Velma Beaver, ah, I am proud to have been her class mate, because now she is one of our most celebrated novelists, George Poteat being her wealthy publisher.

W. S. Abernathy must have received his start by "knowing all the answers," in high school, for he is now Professor Quiz Abernathy on station W-I-S-E.

On the same station is Virginia Campbell making very interesting and educational lectures, with Charles Sutton as her question and answer man.

Bernard Beaver is chief construction engineer of Cannon Mills Company, Okla Butts being his secretary.

Our new head matron of the Landis orphanage is Helen Carter, and Espie McCreary holds a prominent position on the orphanage board.

When Kenneth Corriher worked so hard during the School Fair, he was just preparing himself for bringing the World's Fair to Landis. On exhibit in the fair are some of Marvin Corriher's prize frogs, which he has been raising for the past few years.

Hazel Dayvault, I'm sorry to say, has had trouble finding a husband, and so resorted to composing soothing music. This music is taught by Rachel Linn, as a sideline, because she has become an honored college professor.

You would never guess what Leonard Freeze is doing, anyway, please don't be surprised. He is called the Lucky Freeze who speedily spans the spacious speedways.

Landis is indeed lucky to have such a fine mayor as Ray Freeze, whose closest adviser is Charles Funderburke, Captain of the U. S. Army detachment stationed at Landis.

Wayne Fleming's love of athletes and her desire to become a nurse, caused her to become a nurse for baseball players.

Speaking of baseball, I see Owen Linn is the manager of a very well trained team.

Jeanette Linn, as you all know, dearly loved French, so she has become the French teacher in Landis.

Elvie McCreary is one of our lucky classmates, for she married a wealthy man and lives in a fine home in Panama.

Junior Karkiker gained so much experience during his senior year, that he now has a Column in the Landis Gazette; "Advice For The Love Lorn."

Mildred Troutman works in the new post office of Landis, assisted by Selma Wilson.

Hattie Wright is rather busy between keeping matters straight in a certain Drug Store, and supervising the driving of some Coca-Cola trucks.

No, Hazel Lee Medlin is not married, but she has great hopes about a young minister.

The progressive professor of Marion College is none other than Foil McLaughlin. Another in this college from our midst is Elouise Overcash.

Naturally a college has a Home Economics instructor, so who could it be but Faye Ruth Nesbitt.

Nita Mae Ritchie is the owner of a very high rate beauty salon in our fair city, and although there are no connections whatsoever, Pauline Riley is a nurse, working next door.

The capable manager of the Landis-China-Grove Airline is Harold Sechler, whose competitor is Joe Roberts, driving Swift Horse Bus No. 71.

Arlene Sloan must truly love children, because she teaches two kindergarden classes a day.

Have you noticed lately in the newspapers about the greatly increased rate of deaths? I wonder if the Home Economics Teacher of the high school, Martha Teeter, has anything to do with it, or maybe it is caused by the chain of hamburger stands owned by Margaret Thomas.

The strange occupation of our group is held by Margaret Sloope, who designs postage stamps for the U. S. Government.

Louise Smith is the secretary of Hamilton Arrowood, who is an electric motor engineer.

Winston Rape has found a very pleasant occupation, that of taking passengers to the South Seas on his ship.

Norman Shue must be a great admirer of French, for besides finishing it in one year, he is now a loved singer of French songs.

Ikey Snipes is the most prized worker in the office of the Landis Power Company and she is doing extra well.

Then I saw a figure just as my dreams faded away. The figure was myself, but the glimpse I caught only increased my curiosity, for now I have to wait to find my own future.

HERMAN WEAVER, Class Prophet

Last Will and Testament

We, the Senior Class of Landis High School, the County of Rowan, and the State of North Carolina, upon realizing that the time has come for us to depart from you, our dearest friends, because the world is calling to us to take up our positions in life, do hereby feel it our duty to dispose of our earthly possessions. We therefore do will and bequeath the following:

To the Junior Class we hereby will all our mistakes and also our love for dear old Landis High.

To the Sophomore Class we hereby will our common sense (they show signs of needing it).

To the Freshman Class we hereby will our love for Miss Burge and ability to get by (we never did).

To the Principal, school board, and teachers we hereby will our appreciation for the high ideals they have set before us during the past years.

1. I, Wayne Fleming, do hereby will my love for Pet Ice Cream, "Referees" and my friendly ways to Mrs. Doron.

2. I, Leonard Freeze, do hereby will my nickname "Speed Ball" to D. B. Adams.

3. I, Okla Butts, do hereby will my dimple and quiet ways to Alice Blackwelder.

4. I, Kenneth Corriher, do hereby will my silence on classes to Raymond Daugherty.

5. I, Selma Wilson, do hereby will my brown eyes and curly locks to Marie Corriher.

6. I, George Poteat, do hereby will my love for Hayden Carter to Ethel Beaver.

7. I, Margaret Thomas, do hereby will my ability to sing "Oh, Johnny" to Mr. Cunningham.

8. I, Margaret Jane Alexander, do hereby will all my fan mail and giggles to Ruth Wright.

9. I, Charles Sutton, do hereby will my love for English to Willie Mae Fisher.

10. I, Margaret Sloope, do hereby will my studious manner and ability to learn to Georgia Morgan.

11. I, Charles Funderburk, do hereby will my ability to date girls from Bain to Alex Roberts.

12. I, Espie McCreary, do hereby will my sunny disposition and ability to study to Imogene Bost.

13. I, Elvie McCreary, do hereby will my girlish ways and blue eyes to Della Mae Beaver.

14. I, Nita Mae Ritchie, do hereby will my brown eyes and ability to attract the opposite sex to Adrain Bond.

15. I, Norman Shue, do hereby will my ability to tease faculty members and get by with it and my bass voice to Herman Eagle.

16. I, Martha Teeter, do hereby will my ability to sit quietly in Mrs. Linn's class and read French to Fred Tricee.

17. I, Hattie Wright, do hereby will my lovely dimples and athletic ability to Evelyn Ruff.

18. I, W. S. Abernathy, do hereby will my love for Concord and preachers' daughters to Charlie Corriher.

19. I, Bernard Beaver, do hereby will my studious ways to Sherman McClaid.

20. I, Eloise Overcash, do hereby will my quick temper and love for French to Helen Karriker.

21. I, Marvin Corriher, do hereby will my ability to tell tall tales to Mildred Goodson.

22. I, Louise Smith, do hereby will my typing ability to Mary Agnes Bost.

23. I, Winston Rape, do hereby will my love for V-8s and dare-devil ways to Andrew Smith.

24. I, Helen Carter, do hereby will my bashfulness to Floyd Daugherty.

25. I, Pauline Riley, do hereby will my long brown curls and sparkling eyes to Margaret Blackwelder.

26. I, Owen Linn, do hereby will my good looks to Cecil Linn.

27. I, Velma Beaver, do hereby will my love for Eva Mae Dishman to Hoyle Bost.

28. I, Herman Weaver, do hereby will my rosy cheeks and winning smile to Elizabeth Corriher.

29. I, Hazel Dayvault, do hereby will my ability to be an old maid to Marie Barnhart.

30. I, Ray Freeze, do hereby will my ability to drive a school bus to Harold Campbell.

31. I, Mildred Troutman, do hereby will my babyish and cute ways to Merrill Hilton.

32. I, Junior Karriker, do hereby will my love for "Wrights" to "Lib" Upright.

33. I, Jeanette Linn, do hereby will my ability to crack jokes and say the right thing at the wrong time to Alma Watts.

34. I, Foil McLaughlin, do hereby will my school boy complexion to Hayden Hilton.

Last Will and Testament—Continued

- 35. I, Harold Sechlar, do hereby will my love for Mooresville to Clarence Hamilton.
- 36. I, "Ikey" Snipes, do hereby will my ability to fall both "in" and "out" of love to Louise Turner.
- 37. I, Joe Roberts, do hereby will my place as bus driver and my "witty" sayings to Paul Campbell.
- 38. I, Rachel Linn, do hereby will my love for music and my ability to get the faculty members car keys to Lula Bell Mason.
- 39. I, Hamilton Arrowood, do hereby will my athletic ability to J. W. Deal.
- 40. I, Faye Ruth Nesbitt, do hereby will my "jitterbug" and winning ways to Hazel Sutton.
- 41. I, Arlene Sloan, do hereby will my love for China Grove to Juanita Thompson.
- 42. I, Hazel Lee Medlin, do hereby will my "do or die" attitude to Helen Kimball.
- 43. I, Virginia Campbell, do hereby will my "goofy" ways and job as Basketball Manager to me kid sis, Ruth Campbell.

In witness whereof we set our hands and seal this fourteenth day of March, 1940.

MONOGRAM CLUB

Our dear old Landis High has always been known for its great achievements in the world of sports and for the great athletes that have taken part in basketball, baseball, and football. Our "star" players, or those that worked hard enough to wear the letter of our High School, organized the club that is now known as the Monogram.

For the second season in many years Landis had a football team. Although Coach Jones did not have sufficient material for an eleven man team, he developed a good six man team. This type of football has been played more and more by small high schools in recent years. Our boys made a very good record.

Strike three; you're out. You know Hayden Hilton was talking about going to Greensboro on his bicycle and last week I saw one of our softball players go OUT on a FLY.

Coach Cunningham, a new teacher, introduced a new sport to Landis High School. In the spring of 1940 softball for the first time was organized. Many of our girls went out for the sport and enjoyed the fun it provided.

Whee-e-e-e-e, it certainly is warm to be playing tennis, especially in that gym. Several of the students are learning as well as several teachers. That reminded me of one of our teachers. She came out to learn one day and when Mr. Lawrence told her he was going to serve, she asked what he was serving—ice cream? ?? She still can't understand why everyone laughed but she never came out again to learn. Wonder why??????
